

You're lucky today - there's no snakes on this train!

When you're driving the train, you can't afford to lose track

If you enjoy one-liners, be sure to take a trip on a monorail

Practice makes perfect but good training will get you on the right track

Life isn't all about the final destination - the journey along the way can be fun too

A good train of thought will lead you to the right destination

Don't get side-tracked: keep your eye on the final destination

Is it more important to train your mind or mind the train?

Always remember the wise ticket inspector has got just the ticket

How do you find the missing train? Follow the tracks...
